Product Introduction

PET Polyester Pouch Lamination Film is common lamination process to make simple and smaller laminates. We use to laminate id cards, tags and small paper materials. Lamination width is limited in pouch laminators. This is useful in offices and home.
 Laminating equipment for laminating pouches is handy and need no training to operate. We use heat sensitive laminating film for pouch lamination.
 Sheet with lamination films passed through heated rollers and due to the effect of heat it sticks together. Heated rollers moves with reasonable speeds applying some pressure on the laminate. Both pressure and temperature contribute for bonding strength of the laminating pouch. ID cards are made by this process very easily.
